FRENCH IRE AROUSED

Threats of War Reach London

Ruhr Dispute is Straining Relations of the British With Paris

Citizens of Both Nations Firm in Their Beliefs on German Chaos

BY CARL EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH, LONDON, Nov. 18.—Anglo-French relations are beginning to assume serious proportions. So thoroughly stirred up are the peoples on both sides of the Channel that there is loose talk of war.

Stirring references to French intrigues by various British ministers and by the King himself in Parliament has aroused even the most lethargic, and threats of war, born of inflamed minds, find their way into fiery denunciations of Britain's war-time sins. British politicians blame the French occupation of the Ruhr for their present economic condition and for their hundreds of thousands of unemployed. They tell their people that rehabilitation of Germany would provide a real market for English goods and consequently would solve the unemployment problem.

French stubborn attitude, these politicians insist, stands in the way of such a solution.

FRANCE CONVINCED

On the other hand, the French people as a whole are thoroughly convinced of the fundamental reasonableness, justice and moral righteousness of their cause. They regard the British attitude as a display of the friend's and the sworn treaty pledges. Therefore, the French say, if England persists in its efforts to take vigorous punitive measures against Germany with France and Belgium against Germany to enforce the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles and the other instruments of ultimate peace, France must act alone.

Ever since the signing of the controversial peace treaty, Germany has not tried to make a move to involve Britain and France in a continental war hoping thereby to avoid payment of reparations, to recoup her lost prestige, and all over again. British diplomats and statesmen, however, is not given to force. Shrewdly, cleverly, and cunningly it handles intricate and sly political problems.

RELATIONS STRAINED

The majority of the British people and most of the newspapers do not think of war. They do not believe, either, that there will be an immediate break between Great Britain and France, although it is realized that the relations between the two countries is very much strained. What is believed, however, is that the outcome of the war will be the outcome of the war between France and Germany.

The great danger to the peace of Europe is not the inability of Great Britain and France to make a prominent British statesman today "but with matters drifting as they are, there is the menace of a diplomatic and military trouble between France and Germany may develop into war."

"The great danger to the peace of Europe is not the inability of Great Britain and France to make a prominent British statesman today "but with matters drifting as they are, there is the menace of a diplomatic and military trouble between France and Germany may develop into war."

FEAR DISRUPTION

"For France, the problems of reparations and security are not separate, but are intimately intertwined parts of a single question."

"A break between France and Germany would mean military operations of the Rhine to begin with, and France would not wait for the small-fry nationalist organizations to grow into adult sharks."

"In this country we want to prevent the disruption of Germany and the development of worse troubles in Europe. The only way to do this is to control the actions of France. This way is still open to us."

"Across the road that leads to our exercising this control, however, stands the obstacle—the lack of knowledge that going along with France means helping France. This illusion prevents the British from understanding that the only way to control France is to remain at her side."

"In some quarters in Great Britain, it is felt that France exaggerates the importance of the return of former Crown Prince Frederick William to Germany and that she is making too much noise over military matters to insure the peace of Europe is at stake."

JUAREZ GAMBLING HALLS ARE CLOSED

BY CARL EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH, EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 18.—All gambling halls in Juarez were closed yesterday at noon. Owners of concessions stated that in view of the attitude taken by the Federal government against open gambling they would close their places. Instructions were received here Saturday morning from Mexico City to close the international bridges at 12 o'clock each evening until the gambler was gone. Action of the concessionaires followed conferences with the chamber of commerce officials and business men of Juarez.

CHAMPION CORN PICKER

BY CARL EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH, OMAHA, Nov. 18.—A challenge is hurled to corn huskers of Nebraska by Frank Middaugh, county farmer, who boasts of the produce of his employee, Roland C. Meyer, who husked an average of 167½ bushels of corn a day for a period of six days. On the last day he will disintegrate, Meyer went out and husked 100 bushels in the forenoon.

COOLIDGE BACKS TAX REDUCTION

seative Dickinson, Republican of Iowa, leader of the farm bloc in the House, who in 1921 led the fight against any reduction below the present maximum sugar rate of 55 cents. Mr. Dickinson favors a maximum of about 35 per cent. The biggest controversy undoubtedly will center on the sugar quota.

The radicals approve Secretary Mellon's recommendation for a 25 per cent reduction in the tax on sugar, while, allowing the export of excess sugar. This proposal, under which a differential rate will be applied to income from wages, salaries and professional fees, is also distinguished by the fact that it comes from business or investment, seems certain to meet with practically unanimous approval although modification may be suggested in order to take care of special classes, such as farmers, who might not benefit otherwise.

GROUPS UNITED

All groups in Congress unite in favoring the proposed reduction in normal taxes, although the radicals oppose any amendment limiting reduction to incomes below a certain amount. The radicals also propose an even larger reduction in normal taxes on small incomes, and the radicals, including Secretary Mellon, who would cut the 4 per cent normal tax to 3 per cent and the 8 per cent tax to 7 per cent.

On the other hand, the radicals and also some among the Democrats of its effort to restore the excess profits tax, but there seems little likelihood that anything of the sort can be accomplished in view of the belief of many Democrats, as well as Republicans, that an income excess profits tax had an injurious effect on the economy.

A tax on undistributed earnings of corporations as a means of reaching the stock dividend problem will be proposed by Senator Rayburn. The treasury believes that there is not much prospect that it will receive the approval of Congress.

FORGOTTEN BANK BOOKS UNCOVERED

Heirs Find Small Fortune Among Discarded Papers in Old Storeroom

BY BROOKLYN, Nov. 18.—Six bank books, totaling $15,558, which were hidden away ten years ago by their owner, James Hughes, a local merchant, who died February 5, 1912, were discovered recently by his two daughters, and in a report submitted to the Surrogate's Court unexpectedly added to the testator's estate.

REPORT EPROFOUND

"Congress was informed erroneously but with candid intent that the guns of the British fleet had their elevations slightly increased. The British government has said that this information is correct. The American government immediately and unhesitatingly repudiated the British statement. The question of the legality of the armament contention is still open to the testator's estate.

These bank books came to light a few days ago when the testator's daughter was having his former home of E. J. O'Reilly, 4542 Park Avenue, attacked by a man who, she later confessed, was a former sweetheart in the O'Reilly home about 2 a.m.

In the struggle, she was severely scratched, a floor lamp was overturned and broken and other articles in the house were damaged. Miss Kessler was in such a nervous condition that she was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

THE TREATY

The general intent of the treaty was to grant to each power full right to keep step with material and scientific progress, subject only to the rights of neutrals. Not only is there to be found a spirit of the treaty that contradicts this right. Whoever claims the existence of such a "spirit" does in the hope of retaining at no cost an existing advantage.

DOUBLED RUM GUARD ASKED

Treasury Prepares Plea to Congress

Investigations Disclose Need for Aid

Appropriation Sought to Fulfill Plans

DET. A. P. NIGHT WIRE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The Treasury Department has completed plans for halting rum running under which it will request Congress for an appropriation of approximately $25,000,000 with which to double the strength of the coast guard and establish a chain of boats along the eastern seaboard.

With the backing of President Coolidge, treasury officials will declare to Congress that they can effectively stop the operations of rum runners if granted the money required. The President, it was said today, probably will urge favorable action on the proposal in his message to Congress.

The program proposes the purchase of twenty cruising cutters at a cost of $10,350,000; 200 cruising motor boats, about $5,000,000; 100 small motor boats at about $1,000,000, and the addition of 144 commissioned officers, 320 warrant officers and 3,071 enlisted men to the force. If the plans are granted Congressional sanction, the coast guard will number 351 commissioned officers, 716 warrant officers and 3,071 enlisted.

The program has been under consideration for several months during which the views of coast guard officers from the 100 districts on the eastern and southern seabards have been obtained. An official report dealing with the proposal refers to the coast guard's duties in combatting smuggling and asserts that these burdens are steadily increasing.

HOPE HELD

"The coast guard can stop almost entirely the importation of intoxicating liquors into the United States," the report said. "It probably will be impossible to absolutely prevent the importation of all liquor and there always will be cases where small quantities are smuggled ashore, and exceptional and the quantities involved trivial. The coast guard can do this, but it can do it only if its resources are increased substantially."

It was not disclosed whether the appropriations sought would be included in the budget estimates of appropriations or whether they would be voted for the nomination of President.

BY K. G. ORMSTON

Radio has done much to create an interest among the people for music and the better things of life. It has brought our front gate and our neighbors front gate nearer together. It has made us sit down and listen. The fact alone has been worth much to our country. We have always been in a rush and hurry—not satisfied and always wanting to go. We have been reading only the big headlines and reading places of amusement. We have not been thinking, because we have not been still. Thinking people are an acting people, builders of humanity.

Who would dare attempt to estimate the value to humanity of last night's broadcast from KHJ, when the Zoellner Quartet, musicians who have been honored by the crown heads of Europe, virtually were in the front rooms of the nation's homes, hospitals, and other places where people gathered to listen and think.

SUPERIOR TECHNIQUE

The Zoellner Quartet is composed of Joseph, Sr., viola; Joseph, Jr., cello; Emanuel, bassoon, and violin. The Antioch Quartet, violin. The recital given by these artists was one of remarkable artistry and beauty, marked with a superb technique and harmony. Music in its highest form, a form which is responsive chord in every heart, and the chamber music of the Zoellners did just that last night.

The program opened with "Quartet, Opus 35" by Glazounov, followed by "Schemen Opus 25," from the quartet, "Romantische Serenade," by Hugo Wolf. "Midnight" and "Scherzo," by Malibeksky, were exquisite gems. Joseph Zoellner's arrangement of Bach's "Prelude" and "Bourree," by Ilyinsky, added to the beauty and balance of the chamber recital.

"Adagio from Quartet Opus 3," by Mendelssohn, and "Antonietta," Opus 11, by Tchaikovsky, completed their splendid recital.

The Zoellner Quartet is to give series of six concerts in the music room of the Los Angeles Biltmore Hotel, opening tonight.

DONA GHREY SINGS

Dona Ghrey, dramatic soprano, was the vocalist of the evening and contributed largely to the excellence of the musical beauty of the program. Her charming voice, intense dramatic and of rich qualities, was heard in four numbers of strong appeal.

STORY OF NORTH
WITHOUT MOUNTED

If you think the days of miracles have passed you have another guess coming. Here's a picture of the Great North without the w. k. Northwestern Mounted — or any other law enforcers, for that matter. It is "Unseeing Eyes," now showing at the California Theater.

This latest of northern productions relies more upon its content than upon its story, for its success.

And the cast is good, while the story could be, were it treated with a little more care. Cutting again and again, even breaking it in pieces, might help. And it is, in the case of "Unseeing Eyes," there are times when "Unseeing Eyes" gets very interesting and occasionally funny.

ROLL CALL IS PROGRESSING
WELL, BUT HUGE FIELD MUST BE COVERED

ENTERING the second week of the 1923 membership roll call today, the Los Angeles chapter of the American Red Cross is striving to cover the vast territory allotted to it, and with encouraging results thus far. However, according to D. C. MacWatters, chairman of the general campaign committee, more workers are urgently needed, if the red cross is to embrace the city and the goal of 100,000 members attained.

"We have made excellent progress," said Mr. MacWatters, "but the amount of territory we are called upon to cover is too large."

He cannot, however, be too highly praised the ceaseless efforts of the seven destroyers at Point Honora on September 8 will be resumed tomorrow. Commander William L. Calhoun, commanding officer of the U.S.S. Young, will be the first defendant tried this week. He will be the first individual destroyer commander to face the court as such.

The general, composed of Admirals Wiley, Nulton and Chase, and Captains Blamer, Crosley, Moses and Campbell, adjourned the trial with the finding of guilty.

Admiral Wiley, the senior, was found guilty of perjury in his testimony, and the court found that he had lied in his statement that he had not been present at the trial.

Another football season, with its instant wreckage of bone, sinew, and muscle, is the most vulnerable season of the football hero's anatomy. His brilliant victories and tragic defeats, colorful crowds and horse cheer leaders, championships won and lost, another football season is about to reach its climax with the Big Game next Saturday.

Whether a fan lives in Maine, Montana, Fresno, or Florida, Middle West or right here in Los Angeles, the Big Game for him, hundreds of college elevens and hundreds of thousands of fans being on hand to witness the drama of a gridiron battle, is the local rooting of the U.S.C.-UCLA will hold the popular annual Conference game of the year.

The Coliseum will undoubtedly hold a crowd approximately 50,000 when the Trojans and Vandalas trot out on the Several decades of tooth-and-nail battles between the two have built up a tradition of fighting spirit which always makes for a terrific battle, only the Oxy-Pomona games in history having been won by the home team.

This season, however, the conference leading will be all the more exciting, the game will undoubtedly be the more bitterly contested.

VOCADO YIELD SEEN AS HEAVY

California Crop This Year Largest in History

Application of This Fruit is No Longer Experiment

Union Expressed by Expert After Orchard Survey

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

MEL MALL, Nov. 15.—A tour of the principal avocado orchards of Southern California has shown me that this is to be the largest avocado year in our history and the beginning of a new era for this fruit, which heretofore has been regarded as something of an experiment here. A. R. H. Ralston, horticulturist of Rancho Santa Fe, the 3,000-acre project for which Santa Fe Railroad interests are developing, has just come from inspection of orchards at Riverside, Ontario, Whitewater, San Dimas, Monrovia, Azusa, Tustin, Lemon Grove, and Linda, California, and has found an exceptionally heavy crop of fine quality. Mr. Ralston continued, and am confident, that the varieties now coming into the front in Southern California are far superior to those which it is now necessary to import here because of insufficient home supply. We expect the crop to be larger and will ship much more.

ACREAGE SMALL

His areas north of Cucamonga which avocados have survived small acreages on the high plateaus of mountains as at Monrovia, the Spunks and Sheds, and on or on the steep hillsides of the mountains, as at North Heights.

In those places, however, it is all that could be desired, with an important source of wealth in the communities in the coming season.

Where there is plenty of water, as on the beach south of Cucamonga, it is ideally suited to the growing of avocados, not, perhaps, of commercial value, but to be successful and profitable there.

NO LONGER FAD

The extensive inspection conducted by the avocado men has not been considered a failure, but should be regarded as a substantial success.

Wherever the orchard is located, the avocado is not a success, and the tree is supposed to be a more or less dead failure.

I found trees from 3 to 7 feet in diameter, bearing heavily, although in some cases they were not bearing at all.

In one case, a tree which had been bearing for a number of years, was not bearing at all.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 18.—John Sabin, 45 years of age, is in the City Jail here because of his liking for display. He persisted in flashing a large roll of bills before various citizens, so frequently that he did show his wad that police were attracted to him and the result was that Sabin became the object of numerous telegrams sent out by local police to various penitentiaries, police departments and sheriffs offices.

POLICE here say Sabin explains his possession of his roll of bills by the fact that he is representing part of the proceeds of his "job" which he served off in Chicago and for which he served a term in a Federal prison.

He served my time for that job and you can't touch me," Sabin declared to police here when he was being questioned.

He served his time, however, the roll that could be destroyed, will be an important factor in the coming season.

He is finally suited to the old streets now, preferred fully six varieties

CALIFORNIA OIL GLUTTING MART
Indiana Standard Leader Explains Situation

Official and Wife Visit in Los Angeles

Well Drilling Cessation is Advice Given

The vast output of oil in California has demoralized the oil market all over the country, according to W. M. Burton of Chicago, president of the Standard Oil Company. In Los Angeles, the drilling of new wells—until the demand catches up with the supply.

Mr. Burton, who is an accomplished oil man, Burton said, is staying at the Ambassador Hotel on a combined business and pleasure trip. He said that there is no particular significance in his presence here, for the oil business is concerned with the business in which he is interested being largely of a personal nature.

EFFECT DISCUSSED

"We have felt the effect of the surplus of oil in the East," he said. "The market is glutted, and the business is making any profits. It's simply a case of too little demand for the enormous supply. If the California producers would shut down their wells on their output, it would restore the situation to a normal basis."

He suggests that the best place to keep the oil in storage is in its natural state, and that it is at this time such as there is a market adjustment. "It makes no prediction as to the future price of gasoline, but, given the conditions as we find them, it is impossible to decide whether it will go up or down.

PRICE TOO HIGH

As to an increase in the exportation of oil, he would not commit himself, explaining that the company has no export business.

He intimates that the price of 75 cents or more, charged for gasoline in Australia and South Africa, seems to him to be high and suggests the opinion that would pay producers to dispose of a greater amount of their surplus in those countries.

"I don't see why the transaction of oil should make so big a difference in price between the home markets and those abroad," he adds, "but I am not sufficiently familiar with the subject to discuss it authoritatively."

In regard to business conditions in general throughout the country, Mr. Burton does not express himself, but the enthusiasm characteristics of many other big business men.

"The country is moderately prosperous," he says. "It would not be surprising that it is. Our own company, for instance, will probably equal the sales of last year, but will not exceed them. And there is no reason to believe that to learn that is about the situation in most other lines of commercial activity."

WORK RUSHES IN TORRANCE FIELD

Standard Erecting Plant for Future Needs

Daily Output of 50,000 Barrels Soon Expected

District Now Has Flow of 24,600 Barrels

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
HORRANCE, Nov. 18.—Estimating the needs of the future by calculations based on the present rapid rate of increase in oil production here, the Standard Oil Company is rushing the construction of a pumping plant to handle such local crude as the Standard is producing and purchasing.

One hundred men are at work on the plant which is located a mile west of Norin Lomita on the Western Road. The foundation for one 50,000-barrel tank is in and grading for a second tank has been done. Four boilers will be erected at once and others are expected to be added later. The ten and twelve-inch pipe line connecting El Segundo and Los Angeles Harbor will be tapped to furnish water to the Standard loading station. Later the second pipe line will be laid from the new plant to the harbor, it is said. These calculations are on the rate of growth during the past three months, oil operators estimate a daily output of 50,000 barrels a day in this field by January 1.

Three new wells with a combined daily output of 42,000 barrels per day have recently completed in the field during the past week. This added flow of crude brought the daily production of 24,600 barrels.

BLOWS IN SUDDENLY

The most sensational of the trio was the Hedges No. 1 well of the Empire Drilling Company which blew in while being bailed out for a water test. Located on Cedar Street, it is the second production well this well is making a flush flow of 1500 barrels of 25 gravity oil, flowing from a depth of 710 feet.

The Superior Oil Company's Steinbichler No. 2 well is making 1200 barrels a day. The Gladys No. 1 well of the Empire Drilling Company is on Pennsylvania Avenue, a block north of the Midway Northern No. 1, was drilled 2700 feet and has a flush flow of 1500 barrels.

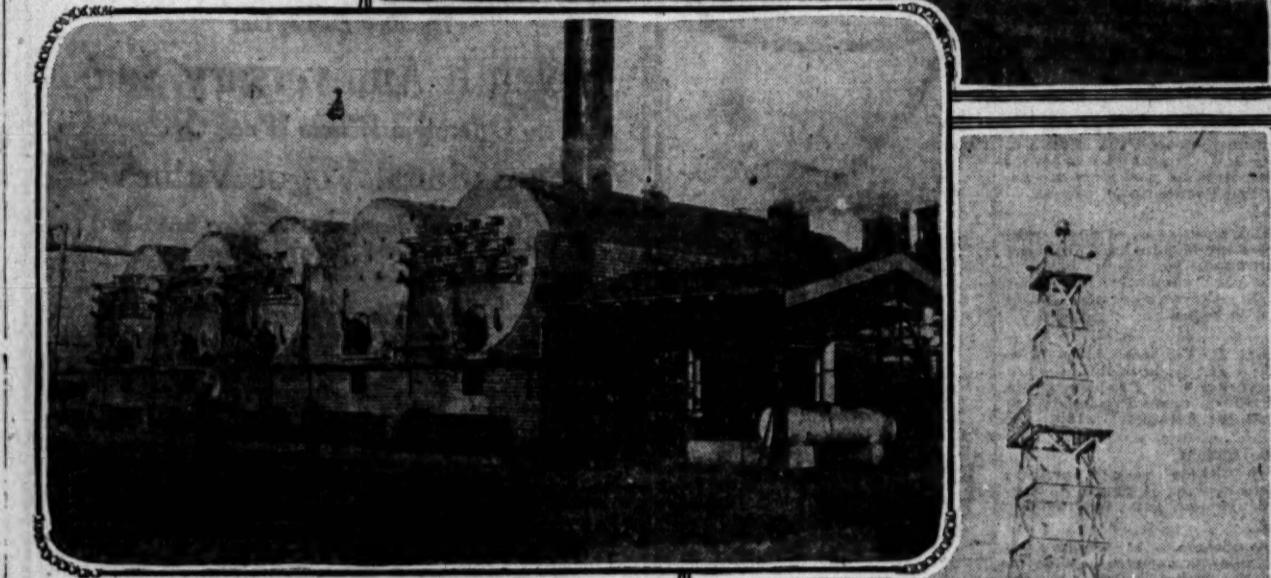

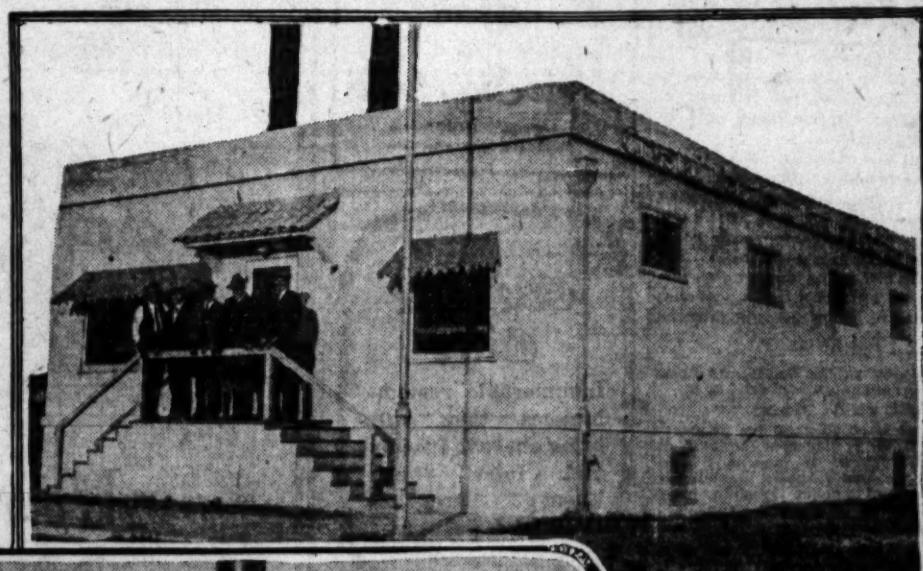

Encouraging reports came from the wildest wells on the east side of the field during the week. The Shell's Keystone No. 1 reported good showings at 2900 feet and is drilling ahead. The Sentinel Company is expected to cement Joughlin's No. 1 well within a few days. It is being 3000 feet. Dominguez No. 1 of the Standard Oil Company is standing cemented at 3650 feet and will be drilled out in a future. The Pomeroy-Barker well will be drilled out within a few days, reports say.

PUMPED WATER

When the Hub Oil Company's Frye No. 1 well was put on the pump at 2750 feet, it began pumping water. It is feared that it may be bottom water and that the well was possibly drilled too deep. Water trouble, also unexpected, was encountered in the Southern Midway's Gandy No. 1, which has been producing 700 barrels a day. Two days ago the well developed 14 per cent of fresh water which it believed forced into it from either the Chancellor-Canfield-Midway's Torrence No. 12, in which consideration was given to shutting off a water shut-off or from the Superior's Torrence No. 2, which was drilled too deep and was plugged back at 3640 feet after hitting water sand.

VERDE MINE REFUSES TO SHUT DOWN

Official Says Company is Determined to Remain Open Despite Consequence

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
JEROME (Ariz.) Nov. 18.—United Verde Extension is going to continue right along with its present rate of production, according to the company's president, James O'Neil, yesterday.

"If we ever shut down again, it will be because we are through and are ready to give up the ghost. We've had enough of shutting down. We'll do the maximum if anyone suspends let it be one of the others. We have no fear that the price will go below our production cost."

"When the price of copper was forced up to 17 cents, it was done simply to allow one of the large companies to float a bond issue. In my opinion, now the whole industry is paying the price of the inevitable reaction. The stabilization which means steady prosperity for the company must have been put just the right farther in the future. The immediate future of the copper market is not bright and it is not to be until some settlement is arrived at in Europe."

John Carter Anderson, a Southern Arizona mining operator, declares:

"There is every indication that low prices of copper and of copper stocks have been due to manipulation, to permit the accumulation of copper shares at favorable prices rather than to the real conditions of the copper market."

"I am reliably informed that the refiners of the country are short of copper and copper is scarce. This indicates that copper metal has been forced on the market faster than the normal requirements demand, in order to depress the price of the metal."

LONG MISSING, RETURNS

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18.—Albert Branthwaite, 19 years of age, who disappeared from home in Madison forty-five years ago and was believed dead after a nationwide search, reappeared at the home of his mother, Mrs. John Branthwaite in Columbus, Ind., yesterday and was obliged to introduce himself before he was recognized. His home is now Omaha, Neb., and when he came to Indiana a few days ago on business he decided to try to locate his relatives.

LITTLE CHANGE IN BEACH FIELD

No New Rig at Huntington for Past Week

Field Production in Drop of 4000 Barrels

Interest Still is Strong in Well at Anaheim

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 18.—Drilling and production in this field is remaining along about the same as it had for the past month. There are no new activities. Two new producers are reported and no new rigs for the past week.

The Amalgamated Oil Company brought in its Midway No. 2s, doing 550 barrels of 24 gravity oil, at a depth of 3380 feet. The oil was taken from a section of cased and the pressure gauge recorded 340 pounds at the casing-head.

This well is located on Seven- teenth street at the intersection of Lake avenue and at the west entrance to the wharf. It is an offset to the Petroleum Midway's Thornton No. 2-A on the north and to the Sun Oil Company's No. 3 on the east.

The Globe Petroleum Corpora- tion has completed La Bola. The company No. 1 is pumping 11,000 barrels of 23 gravity oil. This well proves up a large territory in that section of the field and can be drilled deeper, because the owners have decided to wait at the outcome after drilling to a depth of 4274 feet.

There is a forty-foot liner in the pipe for oil production. One feature of this well is that the content is entirely free from emulsion. It is located on the land of the La Bola. The Company, and lies directly north of the sugar factory at the extreme edge of the field.

The field production has dropped from 75,000 last week to 75,000 this week, because of a well with a total production of 345 barrels daily. This shows a loss of 365 barrels daily. The field average shows a loss of three barrels from last week, while it was 237 barrels. There are now 493 rigs in the field of which 108 are drilling, 214 are on production and the balance are incomplete.

ANAHIM

Standard Oil Wagon No. 1 is drilling at 2100 feet in hard formation, but the well is not deep enough to show any very interesting formation although a great deal of interest is being aroused at its progress.

ATLANTA

Artesia Oil Company's No. 1 is drilling at 4200 feet without a water shut-off and it is drilling to the 5000-foot level.

Challenge Oil Trust No. 1 is a rig.

Equitable Oil Syndicate is idle. Hollywood Oil Syndicate is a rig. Julian No. 1 is idle. Petroleum Center Oil Company No. 1 is drilling at 4500 feet.

ORANGE

Orange Oil Company's No. 1 is drilling at 2700 feet with sand being shown oil formation and gas.

Penn Drilling Company is rig- ging up rotary.

Interstate Newport Heights No. 1 is idle.

Orange Beach Consolidated No. 1 is idle.

Newport Oil and Refining Com- pany's Fulker No. 1 is idle and No. 2 is pumping heavy oil part time.

ECONOMIC FREEDOM FOR RUHR PLANNED

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
BERLIN, Nov. 18.—Financial and economic autonomy for the Rhineeland and Ruhr, but not political changes, were decided on by the German Cabinet in a conference with the representatives from the Ruhr yesterday. The project for a Rhine- land state independent from Prussia but within the Reich has been temporarily dropped. Details of the plan will be worked out with a commission of experts, including the establishment of emergency currency issued by the International Bank of Cologne.

IMPERIAL VALLEY COW SETS UP NEW RECORD

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
EL CENTRO, Nov. 18.—Recent tests made by the cow-testing association of the County Farm Bureau brought forth a cow produced by F. B. Walker of Melton, which produced 52.8 pounds of butterfat a month.

The cow, which was the best production in the country, was the first to be recorded in the Imperial Valley.

The animal is a grade B steer of Altonian blood, the cow producing the next highest volume of butterfat.

When Walker's cow was found under the pile of rocks, he was found to have been horribly mangled. The body was taken to Pomona, where it will be held pending word from relatives said to live in Brooklyn.

The two workers were engaged in the Allison Way project under the direction of A. R. Shaefer, who was state director of the project.

BODY TO CHECK FOREST FIRESOrganization Effected at Meeting in City*Reforestation Also Will be Aim of Body*H. S. Bissell, Farm Bureau Man, is President

A permanent organization, having for its object the protection of the Southern California forests from fire and other forms of destruction and to bring about the work of reforestation, has been formed as a result of the recent conference in Los Angeles.

This conference was attended by Federal, State, county and city fire officials and by representatives of a number of Chambers of Commerce and various civic and philanthropic organizations interested in forestry and watershed preservation.

BISSELL PRESIDENT

H. S. Bissell, president of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau, has been elected president and J. D. Maxfield, manager of the safety department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, secretary, while chairmen of committees are: W. C. Clegg, law; Dr. George P. Clemens, manager of the agricultural department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, committee on water conservation; H. J. Evans, food control; George H. Barnes, president American Reforestation Association, committee on reforestation; J. B. Valle, laws and legislation; R. B. Bissell, chairman Los Angeles Realty Board agricultural committee, committee on education; Ed Thomas, committee on education.

The organization's activities will cover the district geographically known as the Los Angeles basin, comprising the watersheds of the Santa Ana, San Gabriel and Los Angeles rivers, the San Bernardino mountains, and extending throughout Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties. In addition, a committee at large will cover the whole of Southern California.

EMERGENCY EXISTS

Dr. Clemens declared yesterday that the threat of fire exists to California watersheds, running into tens of thousands of acres yearly, and which exceed more than 100,000 acres on several occasions during the past five years, posing to the public of Southern California an emergency which must be met. He said that the annual loss by forest fires in California averages $10,000,000. Dr. Clemens declared that this amount of money, if properly expended, would prevent 90 per cent of the annual holocaust and also save such annual expenditure.

CONFESSES SETTING FIRE FOR INSURANCECARPER HELD BY POLICE FOR ASSERTED EFFORT TO DEFRAUD FIRM

Eden Carper, residing at Lester and Elm streets, spreading Heights, is being held in the County Jail, after his confession to deputy sheriffs that he set fire to his home in an effort to collect insurance amounting to $1000.

"I needed the money," Carper stated. "I recently had bought my home and had a large number of creditors. They were asking for money and I thought the best thing to do was to set fire to the house and collect the insurance."

According to his written confession, he set fire to the house Saturday night by overrunning a gasoline stove. The building was badly damaged by the flames.

BABY PEGGY HOME AGAINWonders of New York Forgotten by Child Film Star as Airedale Barks Joyous Greeting

Fresh from beholding the wonders of New York for the first time in her life, little Baby Peggy, 5-year-old film star, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Montgomery, and her sister Louise, 7 years of age, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. The little actress, in a new Fifth-avenue coat and with a shiny pair of brown leggings, related in excited tones to her friends who met her the reception she received in Gotham.

She told of talking over the radio, meeting thousands of kiddies, shaking hands with Governors and mayors during her four weeks' stay as the guest of the Principal Pictures Corporation. She visited many children in hospitals and described the drear lives of the patients.

Now that Baby Peggy is back in Los Angeles, she will have only a few days to play with Louise, her sister, before the start of the new production in which she will appear. Sets are being built and the title for the play will be announced soon.

As soon as the little star hopped off the train and greeted her friends, she asked for "Tarzan," her pet Airedale. When the joyous dog was produced, she turned her back on the rest of the party and gave Tarzan an affectionate greeting.

ARMY AVIATORS Make Fast Trip From Bay City

A trip that usually takes three days by automobile was made in a trifling less than five hours yesterday when Lieut. C. C. Mosley, commander of Clover Field at Santa Monica, and Lieut. Carlson Christian of the aviation reserve, flew from San Francisco here by way of Yosemite, circling the valley several times. The flying time was four hours and forty-five minutes, and the airline distance 595 miles.

The two officers went to San Francisco Saturday on official business, taking three hours and thirty-three minutes to go up. They started from San Francisco yesterday at 5:30 a.m. and arrived at Clover Field at 2:44 p.m. They reported no snow in Yosemite Valley itself and only a small amount of snow on the higher peaks. The Sierras to the east were liberally provided with snow. They entered the valley at 10,800 feet, flying over Half Dome. The trip was made in a D. H. Haviland plane powered with Liberty motors.

DEPUTY SHERIFF DIESJack F. Cowan Succumbs to Long Period of Illness

Jack Cowan, for eight years a member of the Sheriff's Department, died yesterday at his home, 612 North Avenue Sixty-four, after an illness lasting several months. Cowan recently had been promoted from the position of court bailiff to that of a criminal deputy.

During the Spanish-American War, Cowan, who weighed six times his normal weight, served in virtually every major engagement during the conflict. He also took part in the Mexican border trouble in 1915. He was married and had a son and daughter and a little drink. They didn't set very well. Patomine. Doctor pumped him out.

"Yes, ptomaine."

"ROTEN STUFF"

"That shows what this prohibition does to a man," exploded Mr. Rich. "Roten stuff."

Expressions of sympathy followed. The newspaper men made ready to exit. George accompanied them to the door, but on learning that the stricken man was waiting to correct any mistake in the report, he beat a hasty retreat to a closed door.

George Sunday declined to come downstairs to see Weaver. He declared as he left that he wanted the matter dropped.

Through Mr. Rich he later explained: "Mr. Sunday has been through so much this afternoon," said Mr. Rich. "He can't come down again. That's the story is all right, sir, it is."

"Then my report to the lieutenant...

BANDITS FRACTURE SKULL OF VICTIM

Suffering from a fractured skull, R. H. Abernathy, 49 years of age, residing at Second and Main streets, was found early yesterday wandering in a semiconscious condition on the streets. According to the police, Abernathy had been drinking and thought to have been attacked by hold-up men who took advantage of his condition. Abernathy is at the Receiving Hospital.

The man had been maimed.

"I recently had bought my home and had a large number of creditors. They were asking for money and I thought the best thing to do was to set fire to the house and collect the insurance."

According to his written confession, he set fire to the house Saturday night by overrunning a gasoline stove. The building was badly damaged by the flames.

The Business Man's Department StoreWhat is a DYNAMITE TRIGGER?

This unique mechanism of the "Hall" Safe foils the yeggman, for should dynamiting be attempted the shock immediately releases the "trigger" which permanently "sets" the heavy locking bolts of the door. Any attempt to drill or destroy the combination has the same result with a permanent locking of the doors. Fitted with a non-pickable combination and surrounded by heavy manganese drill-proof steel, the "Hall" Safe is the greatest possible protection against burglars.

"Hall" Safes are also thoroughly fireproof. They are filled with a patented cement provided with air spaces giving double security against intense heat, and preventing swelling of the walls.

Look into these details carefully before you buy a Safe. Our experts will give you some mighty valuable information without obligating you in any way.

BRINGS LUGGAGE HOME WITH HERMATE'S THRIFT WRECKS HOME*Frederick W. Abbott's Wife Wants Divorce*Stinginess is Blamed for Her Unhappiness*Nagging Nature Climax to Marital Tangle

Despite the fact that Frederick W. Abbott is wealthy and receives a large income from his property, he allowed only $66 a month for the support of his wife and daughter, 19 years of age, Della D. Abbott asserted in an amended suit for divorce against Abbott, on yesterday in the Superior Court.

According to the complaint, Abbott, a "penniless fault-finding disposition," had for years miserably treated his wife except to criticize or scold her. Mrs. Abbott was also compelled to perform "hard manual labor" on the ranch near Rivers and at a bungalow apartment house belonging to Frank Dewar was looking for a certain bootlegging establishment. He says he got into Sepich's abode and found the house in a state of disarray. Six fruit jars filled with liquor had been poured down the sink while he was trying to get in. He was told the house was unoccupied with whisky which was knocked from his hand by Sepich.

"Now you got nothing," Sepich is said to have remarked.

BIRTHDAY BROUGHT

Abbott, it is asserted, has forgotten to remember her for several years past on Christmas Day and on her birthday and wedding anniversary.

George Sunday recently severed his connections with Sunday, Merrick & Ready, realtors, and has organized a company of his own.

He is now a successful realty operator.

Billy also provided for his wife.

The wife further declared her husband's diet consisted largely of raw fruits and vegetables and she was almost unable to enjoy her meals except during his absence.

It is now possible to ship cheese into Switzerland without a special permit, but who wants to? Switzerland does not have to get her Swiss cheese from Wisconsin.

AM AT FAULT
Union labor leaders are seeking to give to the public the aims of organized labor in a series of newspaper articles. It would be fine if the unions always aimed straight.

USES OF OIL
The objection is that the nations of the world are more inclined to quarrel over the discovery and possession of oil rights than to use oil for pouring on troubled waters.

CHINESE SLEEPERS
Chinese railroads are asking for bids for some 15,000,000 feet of timber to be used for ties or bridge repairs. Here is a chance for a small order for some American lumberman.

BLONDES AND BRUNETTES
Tablets 4500 years old recently unearthed in ancient Assyria record the Sumerian legend that the earth was created by a bunch of blonde queens who had a special aversion to brunettes. This makes gossip, but is hardly official. If the brunettes made the world the brunettes have had their share in running it, in spite of the efforts of the swarthy dames to keep them out of the picture. This would be a rather colorless world if it housed none but brunettes—or blondes.

FINE FEATHERS
South Africa has placed an export duty of 2 per cent on all ostrich feathers shipped from that country and this will be confirmed by the approaching Parliament. The intention is to use the tax to further advertise the ostrich and to stimulate the world demand for plumes. There was never anything more beautiful than an ostrich plume to set off a woman's skyline. It is interesting to note that Southern California has many of the finest birds with the feathery plumage known to this distinguished family.

DAY OF OVID
Musolini has been begged to use his authority on behalf of the movement to erect a statue of Ovid in his home town of Sulmona. Ovid was only a Roman poet and died 1906 years ago this afternoon. Musolini may think it more worth while to honor the live than the dead ones. It is certain that an equestrian statue of Musolini himself carrying a big stick would bring more applause in Rome than one showing Ovid trifling with a fountain pen. Yet Ovid had written 1000 love poems and wedded three wives before he was 30 and should therefore be highly cherished in popular fame.

SCHOOLS FOR ARTISANS
The unprecedented building activity in many cities has caused plasterers' wages to soar to enviable heights. Because of their scarcity and the increasingly high wages demanded by them the Industrial Association and Builders' Exchange of San Francisco undertook to cope with the situation in its own way and at the same time to establish the American plan firmly in that city.

Schools were established by the organization wherein boys were trained free of charge to be mechanics and plasterers, the only string on their future activities being that they should not associate themselves with the unions. During the past year the employers' association turned out 1100 boys fitted to take up careers in the building trade and mechanical work and in a short time they were earning $5 a day in these lines. After gaining experience many were advanced to $8 and $10 a day and San Francisco remains one of the few cities in the United States that are not suffering from a shortage of labor in the building trades. This was not accomplished without a bitter struggle from the unions, who brought suit in the government court to have the Industrial Association and the Builders' Exchange dissolved. These organizations gained a victory last Friday in Federal Judge Dooling's court, when he denied the government's suit to abolish them.

Accordingly, they will continue their work of training skilled labor for the open shop. The organizations claim that they are performing a most useful service in that they are giving many lads who were totally unused for any work except odd jobs a chance to learn a useful trade and practice it and assisting in overcoming the shortage of skilled labor. The leaders of the unions, however, see in it the establishment of the American plan in San Francisco and the breaking of the stranglehold they have maintained on that city for so many years.

NO MORE GERMAN MARKS
Germany's gigantic battery of Federal printing presses have ceased their revolution and the flood of fiat money that inundated the whole of Europe and much of the rest of the world is checked at its source. The material loss to the German people themselves is great, but greater still is the loss of German credit; for a government that repudiates its own signature is alike without honor and without shame.

Not for a generation at least will the world repossess confidence in a German promise to pay. Every paper mark is a promissory note, and the greater portion of them were not issued in good faith. For the value of all the land on ten planets the size of the earth with all the improvements thereon, would not be sufficient to redeem the German marks now in circulation.

How much is German credit worth? The whole issue of paper marks could now be purchased for less than $5,000,000. The German government received about $4,000,000 in gold for them. From an unscrupulous promoter's point of view it was an excellent speculation. But it was dishonest. Germany cannot plead necessity before the moral court of world opinion; for it is never necessary to be dishonest. One may honestly contract a debt and unexpected conditions render payment impossible; but one cannot honestly contract a debt that the combined wealth of ten planets would not be sufficient to pay.

And where is the $4,000,000 in gold that the German government received for these marks that will never be redeemed? It has been frattered away. Not as much as $100,000,000 of it remains in the Federal treasury. It was a losing proposition for the German government and people; for the German government defrauded its own citizens, as well as those of other nationalities who were credulous enough to buy. The German working classes could not help themselves. It was a question of work or starve. Neither was it the fault of the employers; for gold had been before the flood of paper marks and there was no other medium with which to pay.

Now the government is issuing other paper securities, backed by a gold reserve; but the public will very naturally hesitate to accept them at their face value. For those gigantic presses, while idle, still exist. What assurance is there that another administration will not set them in motion again?

France has made German recovery exceedingly difficult; but it has been rendered still more difficult by the bad faith of the German government itself, which, in the last analysis, is the German people.

Fiat money is a beautiful Socialist theory. The government is the nation; and, in accepting the government promises to pay, the people are accepting their own promises to pay. How often we have heard that argument advanced in this country against the maintenance of the gold standard? But the theory is now exploded. It will not be revived again during the present generation.

Most of the other Socialist theories have also been proven false—all of them, in fact, that have received a practical application. But new theories will arise with other specific for living without working, for creating value out of something that is of itself without value. Perhaps a reflection on the argument advanced in this country against the maintenance of the gold standard.

The Hughes plan has not yet saved Europe it has at least brought hope and comfort to Hiram Johnson. For Hiram has been badly treated. While Mr. Harding lived the World Court provided material for speeches in which the valiant Senator could make himself important. Then quietly the World Court was put on the shelf and with it the Presidential aspirations of Hiram Johnson. There seemed to be no great outstanding peril which he could save the country from. The nation was not going to the dogs and did not, therefore, require the immediate services of Mr. Johnson.

But worse things followed. Hiram was brooding over the great wrong that there was no great wrong for him to right and other greater of wrongs found a wrong to make a Presidential speech about. Gifford Pinchot discovered the Constitution of the United States, or rather, to be quite accurate, the Constitution of the nineteenth century. This was a double trap for Hiram Johnson. First, it made Mr. Pinchot at the moment the foremost critic of Mr. Coolidge and thus displaced Mr. Johnson as foremost critic. And, second, the new foremost critic was unhappy as good a Progressive as Hiram Johnson, which is not saying very much, and as legitimate a Roosevelt, which says a good deal, though it means very little.

Then Mr. Hughes stepped in generously and bravely to help Hiram Johnson out of his hole. Mr. Hughes said he would send a man to Europe to study the reparations figures. This little thing was a tremendous thing. An American going to Europe for any purpose can in any speech of Hiram Johnson be presented as America's foremost critic of the United States.

At that, the Britons have not quite succeeded in robbing Los Angeles of her position right up at the head of the list of those having vast numbers of humble foot travelers projected into eternity. In comparison with the size and numbers of London we kill them faster here than the British can ever hope to. The merry clang of the ambulance is heard all day as it dashes down Broadway and Hill, and if insurance companies had half as much sagacity as they are supposed to possess they would treble the price of accident policies for our city.

And if a stray pedestrian escapes unharmed the doctors get him eventually, a living. According to addresses delivered at a recent medical association meeting, Los Angeles is the best city in the United States for a nerve specialist to hang out his sign. Neurosurgery of all ages abound, and street-crossing neuroses are present in half of the adult population. And the beauty of it is that nervous collapse seizes the automobile threads the traffic as well as the pedestrians dodging it. Ambulance drivers, bone-setters, nerve specialists and even undertakers among our tourist visitors are reported as giving one foot look at our traffic congestion and promptly shutting up shop at home and transferring their activities here. The field is so magnificent, and constantly enlarging.

CABINET CALL
The need for a Secretary of Education is being greatly exploited at present. The activities of many organizations have been enlisted in this direction. Many women's clubs, the Federation of Labor and the National Educational Association are prominently identified with the movement.

President Coolidge is not going to offer any program of tax revision or adjustment until it is time to deliver his message to Congress. Then he will take his suggestion to the lawmakers in person. It is the business of Congress to determine all taxation methods and the President appears to be rather inclined to the belief that the present utterance of any program by him would be both unwarranted and untimely. Anyhow, what an Executive doesn't say never creates as much consternation as what he does.

For, while ambition in a politician is not a bad thing, an ambition so frantic as this defeats its own ends. Nobody can really take seriously as a statesman a man who really believes in the appointment of a financial adviser as an entanglement, who then pretends to think that to send an economist to Europe means sending an army to Europe. Accordingly, they will continue their work of training skilled labor for the open shop. The organizations claim that they are performing a most useful service in that they are giving many lads who were totally unused for any work except odd jobs a chance to learn a useful trade and practice it and assisting in overcoming the shortage of skilled labor. The leaders of the unions, however, see in it the establishment of the American plan in San Francisco and the breaking of the stranglehold they have maintained on that city for so many years.

Is the Ku Klux Question Solving Itself?

IDEALISTIC ISOLATION

Candidate Hiram Johnson describes the section of the Republican party which he has assumed to represent as being idealistic and forward-looking. He holds it up as being in glittering contrast to that division of the party which happens to be in command and which Hiram mentions as being conservative and materialistic. It is this so-called conservative and materialistic Republicanism which has given the country about all the prosperity it has known and which is even now paying off debts and reducing taxes. Hiram is journeying under an illusive banner. How can a man who would make of America a hermit nation have received a practical application.

Most of the other Socialist theories have also been proven false—all of them, in fact, that have received a practical application. The Chinese, ministers and farmers have registered their protests and now the Canadians and Mexicans are loud in their denunciations of the manner in which they and their countries are presented to cinema audiences.

Enrique Blanco, professor of romance languages at the University of Wisconsin, complains bitterly that no other nation is so malignantly as Mexico in motion pictures. Both Spaniards and Mexicans are invariably presented as swarthy and exceedingly villainous, in a treacherous and wholly contemptible way. Many Spaniards are blondes, yet in pictures they are always dark and untrustworthy looking and very handy with the knife. This impression on the race tends to become a fixed idea in the minds of movie audiences and eventually will cause the country irreparable injury.

In migration into Canada is greatly lessened, we learn, because of the artistic sense of "red-blooded" writers and producers. An epic of Canadian life is not complete without numerous mounted police, crude log cabins and eternal snow. No one would gather the impression from viewing the celluloid dramas that spring ever brightened a Canadian landscape, or any home comforts were found in the Dominion although the trappers' fair daughter sometimes blossoms out in a fragile afternoon dress within the wall of her rough log cabin, with the fierce winds howling outside and the snowdrifts covering the chimney. One writer resident of Vancouver states that he wrote a story of British Columbia and submitted it to a London publisher, only to have it refused on the ground that it misrepresented life there, because the characters live in a manner similar to the people of London.

The moving pictures are in danger of becoming the victims of fixed traditions, such as exist in grand opera. All French and other Latin races are portrayed as ravening brutes and maniacs a chaste-haired French actor has lost a position in Hollywood because he did not resemble the director's idea of what a Frenchman should look like. All Russians are extremely dark, wear flowing beards and flying shirt tails, despite the fact that they are a nation of blondes and were some of Hitler's best customers. Unless the movies begin to portray life and people as they really are the future looks somewhat dark for them when all the enraged nationalities and professions get through sharpening their axes.

And there he is for all men to contemplate. Never before, perhaps, has he seemed quite so complete a fool as an ignoramus who takes anything out of nothing. If only it would look like an issue on which to run in the Republican primaries. For this time even the Battalion of Death could not find anything to oppose. Senator Borah, who was irreconcilable on principle, finds that Mr. Hughes has been too cautious. He asks for more. And Senator McCollum, who is amusing on principle, took a shot at Mr. P. Morgan, pulled a few rabbits out of his hat and supported the Hughes proposal. This left Hiram Johnson standing there and standing very much alone.

But the Senator is badly cast as a voice in the wilderness. For nobody who watched him dodge the Newberry vote, and nobody who saw him sell his support of the Ford-McCumber tariff for a bunch of California politicians, even when it was 1830 and he was elected by the Republican party in 1918 and 1920, can really give him a candidate when he cannot even carry the votes of the Battalion of Death.

For, while ambition in a politician is not a bad thing, an ambition so frantic as this defeats its own ends. Nobody can really take seriously as a statesman a man who really believes in the appointment of a financial adviser as an entanglement, who then pretends to think that to send an economist to Europe means sending an army to Europe. A man who will think that has refused to think. A man who will pretend to think that he is really thinking of nothing but of how he can catch a few votes.

James A. Gardiner, twentieth President of the United States, was born at Orange, Cuyahoga county, O., in the year 1851. He was nominated by the Republican party in 1900 and elected by 369 electoral votes against 155 given his Democratic opponent, Winfield S. Hancock. He served in all six months and fifteen days.

The Legislature of South Carolina passed a nullification ordinance declining the tariff acts of 1890. President Jackson refused to sign the bill. The state then seceded from the Union in 1860. The Civil War followed.

For, while ambition in a politician is not a bad thing, an ambition so frantic as this defeats its own ends. Nobody can really take seriously as a statesman a man who really believes in the appointment of a financial adviser as an entanglement, who then pretends to think that to send an economist to Europe means sending an army to Europe. A man who will think that has refused to think. A man who will pretend to think that he is really thinking of nothing but of how he can catch a few votes.

CRACKING EMPIRE

BY EUGENE J. YOUNG

Unable to speak with her old authority in European and world affairs, unless she proved her dominions would back up the pronouncements of her Foreign Office, Great Britain convened on October 1 the "Imperial Conference."

The decision was to reunite the "empire," which had developed some very serious cracks since the World War because of the determination of the dominions to rank themselves as nations.

Sessions lasting almost four weeks have been held. Every possible influence has been brought to bear on the Foreign Office to induce the dominions to make some plan which would make possible the employment of the united weight of the "empire" against those who oppose British policies.

The conference has been a failure. It has not even left an "empire," for it has officially changed the name to "The British Commonwealth of Nations." And this Commonwealth is described by the Prince of Wales as "a group of virtually independent states, all operating for the common good."

In that fact is to be found the chief reason why France dares to continue her policy of defiance of Britain, and is encouraged even to tell America what's what.

What the British Wanted

Here are the chief objects sought by the London government in calling together the Premiers of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, Newfoundland and South Africa and the representatives of India:

(1.) Some sort of imperial council which could be consulted on foreign relations, could act quickly and could bind all the dominions to policies which would be enunciated by the London Foreign Office.

(2.) An economic union which would give British industry a practical monopoly of the dominions' markets in return for preferences on their products. This was to include some device which should halt "American penetration," that is, our heavy investments in the dominions and chartering of American corporations which share in the advances of any "imperial predominance."

(3.) An immigration policy under which the dominions would take the large surplus of British population and help the settlers to establish themselves.

(4.) A more liberal policy by the dominions, especially South Africa and Australia, towards India, who are claiming equal rights in all British lands.

(5.) Common action for defense, including sharing of the cost of the fleet and the great Singapore naval base.

What chance there is of success in policy through this new council is illustrated by the efforts of the Premiers on the spot to make some formula in India. The Ruler of India has officially changed the name to "The British Commonwealth of Nations" and has given the name to the Prince of Wales. Yet the Premiers have not gone further. They have given no definite advice to the London Foreign Office; while Gresgarve (Australia) and Bruce (Australia) were sure that the French were wrong. So no real plan is adopted.

Domestic Duties

Also of great importance is the decision that the dominions

NOVEMBER 10, 1923.—[PART II.]

more, as well as from the other rights of its citizens as a matter of course.

The common kingship of man to bind the link between the source from which it is derived, and the source which it gives, is the only way to derive their rights from the source in which they live.

Not less blunt was Frank Macomber-King of Canada when he spoke to the Overseas League of Britain. Imperial relations in that of a community of free nations with full rights of self-government. And Premier Bruce of Canada agreed with him.

Vain Effort for United Action.

Failure to establish some central body which could speak officially and authoritatively for the commonwealth on foreign relations is the matter of chief concern to the world. A Britain which could stand on the support of the dominions is a master whom nothing can happen was the general opinion of the British when Lloyd George was on the dominions to help the Turks. They returned.

Britain had to give up her grip on the straits and the Black Sea.

Ever since there has been a series of weekly confidential communications and discussions between London and the dominions. But it is well known there has been a lack of touch, a revelation that there is a difference rather than unity. There is no hope in such a scheme.

Yet the Premiers have returned to say anything further. They insist on consultation at long distance and give notice that any important decision must be submitted to the Parliaments.

What chance there is of a common policy through this means is only illustrated by the efforts (with the Premiers on the spot) to make some formula in dealing with the French. The Ruler and the British was for the French that the dominions wanted to refer the matter to the League of Nations. Macomber-King (Canada) was inclined to take the American position; while Cosgrave (Ireland) and Bruce (Australia) were not even sure that the French position was wrong. So no real policy was adopted.

Dominions Must Have Errors.

Also of great importance is the decision that the dominions have the right to make some errors. British have the right to make some errors, but they are destined to be prevented from making any mistakes covering very wide fields in case of conflict over what are not their separate interests, as distinct from common interests.

Furthermore, the dominions must stand together for the widest interpretation. Here is opportunity for endless disputes; and for arbitration after declaration that British interests are not interested of the other "nations."

Furthermore, the right to separate treasures in order to send separate money to separate out-houses, has been given for five years from the date of the minister to Washington, though that was one of the given as a result of her position in the War World. It is impossible for Britain to membership to block this plan.

When a Canadian minister to Washington he will understand to be followed without great delay by the British minister to Paris. The two will be wanted in Paris, Tientsin, in Peking, in some detail. It would not be unusual for such "bonds" behind them not to be received with some of the same enthusiasm as the British embassy. There are some radical differences in the attitude of the two with conflicts will only serve wealth.

All of which means a very good deal to the world statesmen of the British Empire's power and influence in the world. The "bonds" in prospect, however, are not direct to the British.

of Interest to Women

(Questions relating to the vocational problems of women will be answered by Mrs. E. M. Brown in this column. The name of The Times when personal replies are desired the inquiry must be accompanied by a stamped envelope.)

SALESWOMAN TO BUYER

Many times since this column was started letters have been received asking what I think of retail selling and its opportunities. This sort of question is always difficult to answer. So much depends upon the girl. There is not a line of endeavor open to women which does not show a long list of failures, and there isn't a single one that does not show a large number of successes.

Success and failure have nothing to do with sex. It is the capacity of the individual to stand still, slip back, or go forward. And in my observation I have found that the "will to do" is the determining factor.

The Adventists teach that you must work for the work's sake, not for the reward. Take your thought away from the possible gain or loss, never mind whether you win or lose, forget that part of it—but take each day's work as it comes, do the very best you know, make a success of each particular office from apprehension as to the result, and your reward will come. This same truth was taught by the Master when he said, "The kingdom of heaven is yours, for it is given to you." "Take no thought for the morrow." So it matters little whether you look back 6000 years before the Christian era, or take the 1000 Gospels, the teaching is the same.

There is nothing so destructive as fear and worry. You lose poise. Nerves are tested, the mind is fatigued. The voice grows harsh and nervous, and the sensitive person seeks to escape its sound.

In one of the large dry goods stores here, a young woman who began with no experience of any kind. She was too restless and active for stenography or bookkeeping, or any office employment that required sitting still for hours at a time.

"I honestly believed I went into a store because I liked to talk. I never thought that it was all right, but in an office I would have had to keep still. Of course, I was young and didn't have the poise that comes with maturity."

She was easier, and pleasant. She loved the busyness she sold. She tried every new line that came in: wove her stockings, put on her makeup, put on her clothes in the morning to see just how long they would wear. She knew those that were durable and the kinds that were more beautiful than durable.

"I tried hardest to sell the ones that wouldn't wear well to the woman who was expensively dressed. Beauty is what that type of woman wants, and I didn't interest her at all. But the simply dressed woman, or the professional woman, you can spot a business woman in a minute. She knows what she wants, and she wants the fewest words: wants something that will wear: pays the price and is on her way. I always pick the lines that will give her."

Within a year she became head of stock. Two years later she was made department manager, and at the close of her fourth year she came up from assistant to buyer for the department.

Now there are thousands of girls who are still in minor positions after spending much more time in the office behind the counter, but there are also those other thousands who have come up from the ranks.

There is a reason for this, and it lies with the woman herself, for she is not handling a line of merchandise with which she can make the best showing, or she has missed the right attitude in regard to her work.

It may be that she does not belong in the merchandising field at all. A sound, strong body is the first and most important essential factors are a pleasant manner, a liking for the selling, and a thorough knowledge of the products, of its history, and manufacture, plus a combination of right and last will make for observation, and a willingness to go a little farther than the pay envelope requires.

The there are opportunities and good ones in retail selling, there is no doubt but the girl who goes into it and finds that she is dissatisfied, should get out at the earliest possible moment.

It's all very well to say: "If you can do what you like, then like what you do." But it's a good deal easier if you have the liking to begin with.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Avoid Sore Knees
If a towel is folded into a small square and stuffed into the knee of your stockings you will be very glad by the time all the floors are scrubbed for housecleaning.

Once a Week

Don't neglect the bread box. It should be cleaned once a week with boiling water and let dry in the sunshine. Bread is quickly contaminated if put in a mouldy breadbox.

Economize on Fuel

Hard boiling water is no hotter than gently boiling water. When vegetables are about to begin to boil, turn the gas and turn the water down until just sufficient to keep the water bubbling, and the food will cook just as quickly and better than if boiling hard.

A Warning

How often have you been visiting and found that your hostess has neglected to switch on the light in the upper halls thus causing you embarrassment by stumbling over side tables, etc. Let this serve as a warning to you to look out for the little things when you are entertaining.

WOMAN HAS CLASH WITH PURSE THIEF

Intended Victim Turns on Robber and Defeats Bed on in Wrestling Match

A man ran up behind Mrs. Peggy Halley in front of her home at 2284 South Olive street at a late hour Saturday night and snatched her purse from her hand. Instead of screaming and fainting, Mrs. Halley grabbed the purse snatcher and threw him down. As he squirmed and struggled she sat on him and began to "rough him up a bit." She started to do a little scratching herself, beginning first on her assailant's hair.

He managed to wriggle from under her, but as he did, Halley grabbed him by the sweater. With a deft movement he slipped out of the garment and fled, leaving his cap with his sweater. The man, who had been in the struggle, was regaining his plucky woman.

Remove the skin from two fresh whole kidneys and cut in four pieces. Place them in a shallow pan, cover with water and boil until tender. Remove the fat and gribble from the center and slice crosswise in slices one-eighth of an inch thick. Place in a saucepan with cold water and let stand twenty minutes; drain and dry between clean towels. Place in a bowl and mix with them one tablespoon olive oil. Place in a saute pan two tablespoons of butter, heat and add one sliced onion and simmer until the onions are clear. Remove the onions, reheat the butter and when it is hot, not brown, add the kidneys and shake over a hot fire for three or four minutes. Place the onions and kidneys on squares of buttered toast on a hot platter. Remove the pan to a side fire and add one tablespoon of butter, then add half tablespoons of sifted flour and cook stirring often until brown. Stir in one cup of consomme or orange juice, a cup of water, a cup of hot water, half a cup of strained orange juice, two teaspoons of lemon juice and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Simmer three minutes and strain over the kidneys.

Marriage Announcement
The marriage of Miss Joy Mc Clemon to Norman Nelson of Tocana took place Thursday evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George McCormick of South Manhattan Place. Dr. Frey read the service in the presence of members of the two families and a small group of close friends.

Minnie Nelson, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and H. G. Brady was best man. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white silk and cloth of silver and carried a shower of bride's roses. After December 1, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will occupy their new home on Manhattan Place.

Smart Parties
This past week has been the gayest at the Hollywood School for Girls in a social way, since the opening of the school term. Between the usual horseback riding parties and the swimming diversions the pupils have been enjoying small group theater parties and teas. On Thursday, Mrs. L. K. Woollett entertained some of the resident students at tea at the Biltmore. Those accepting Mrs. Woollett's hospitality were Misses Wilder, Hattie Kate Ware, Frances Green, Helen Armstrong and Peggy Johnston.

On Friday evening Miss Betty Zack gave a dancing party at her home. Her guest list included Misses Margaret DeMille, Mae Tamm, Margaret Sloope, Hilda Howe, Elizabeth Ann and Josephine White, Margaret Gibson, Katherine Sims, Mora Marten, Frances Green, Helen and Marie Gattman and Sam and Eddie Albrecht.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Margaret Swope, sophomore of the school, entertained a charming informal tea at her home. Her guests included the entire freshman class, of which Misses White and Kate Ware, sophomore of the school, acted as hostesses during the afternoon.

Saturday night the junior class enjoyed the concluding performance of "Wendiles" at the Fine Arts Theater.
